James: You look nervous Jack. What's wrong?

Jack: Yeah, buddy! I can't stand my desk mate.

James: What's wrong with him?

Jack: .....

James: Really? I didn't know that. How did you find out?

Jack: I asked for a book that I lent, but he said he already gave it back to me. I never got it back.

James: Oh, buddy! You should warn him about it.

Jack: Yeah, I will! He has to understand that I don't trust him anymore.

Which of the following does not complete the dialogue?

- A) He frequently tells lies
- B) He's often not honest with me
- C) He is really not trustworthy
- D) He is always jealous of me

There may be so many people around you and they may call themselves as real friends. However, you should know that ..... You can easily find out who your real friends are when you have a problem because real friends are always there to back you up.

Choose the best option that completes the paragraph.

- A) no one can be better friends than your family
- B) you have a lot in common with your real friends
- C) real friends show their love in times of trouble, not happiness
- D) walking alone in the dark is better than anything else

Pamela:

I think friendship is the most important part of humanity and everybody should have great friendships in their life.

If you really get on well with someone, it doesn't always mean that he/she is your best friend. To be your best friend, he/she should have other characteristics, too. For example; a true friend should be supportive, honest and fun. He/she shouldn't be self-centered, jealous or unreliable. If you find someone like that, you shouldn't do anything to harm your friendship.

Which of the following is not correct according to the information above?

- A) A true friend never tells lies.
- B) Backing your best friend up is important in a true friendship.
- C) A buddy should never think of just him/herself.
- D) Having a great relationship is enough to be a buddy.

Daniel: Do you have a lot of best friends at school?

Pamela: I have many friends, but not all of them are my buddies.

Daniel: What's a best friend like in your opinion?

Pamela: .....

Daniel: I totally agree with you. You have to count on him/her. Honesty is the most important trait of a true friend for me, too. I really hate lies.

Choose the best option that completes the conversation.

- A) A true friend should always tell the truth
- B) A best friend has to back me up when I need help
- C) A friend should never keep my secrets
- D) A buddy should have a great relationship with me.

- 5. One of your friends has two tickets for a rock concert. She invites you, too. You're fond of rock music. You don't want to refuse the invitation but you cannot join her, because you need to visit your grandparents in the village.

How do you refuse the invitation kindly and make an excuse?

- A) I'd really like to join you but I can't, I really think rock music is unbearable.
- B) I'm sorry, but I can't. I have other plans for the weekend.
- C) I'm sorry, but whose concert is it?
- D) I'd really like to accept it. However, I'll be out of town.

What's a true friend like?

I think a true friend should always back you up when you're in need.

In my opinion, you need to have the same likes and dislikes with your buddy.

To me, a true friend should be reliable. I should be able to share my secrets.

Well, for me, you should be like brothers or sisters.

Which of the following is not correct according to the information above?

- A) Kyle thinks a buddy should always be supportive.
- B) Simon believes a true friend should be like one of your family members.
- C) According to Jane, a buddy never tells lies to you.
- D) Samuel thinks you don't need to have anything in common with your buddy.
